

Meet the Panelists

William A. Zellmer,
B.S. (Pharmacy), M.P.H.

Bill Zellmer, who has been on the staff of the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists for most of his career as a pharmacist, serves as Writer-in-Residence at that organization. He stepped down as Deputy Executive Vice President at the end of 2008. His previous service to ASHP included many years as editor of the American Journal of Health-System Pharmacy. Some of the editorials he wrote in that capacity were compiled in 2002 in a book entitled, The Conscience of a Pharmacist—Essays on Vision and Leadership for a Profession. Bill has a special interest in applying the resources of an association of pharmacists to help the profession of pharmacy focus on the most critical societal issues related to the appropriate use of medicines. Bill is a native of Wisconsin and is a pharmacy graduate of the University of Wisconsin--Madison. He also holds a Master of Public Health degree from The Johns Hopkins University. He completed an ASHP-accredited pharmacy residency in the U.S. Public Health Service.
