

Questions about your medicine?

Your hospital pharmacist has the answers.

As a hospital pharmacist, I work closely with doctors and nurses to make sure you get the best health care possible. From advising doctors about appropriate medications...to helping patients manage diseases like diabetes and high blood pressure...to protecting you from dangerous drug interactions and medication errors. I'm here to make sure that your medicines work.

So when you're in the hospital and have questions about your medicine, ask for me: Your hospital pharmacist.

Together we make a great team!
For more information, visit www.SafeMedication.com.